

Making a Picture Frame

1. Measuring the artwork is very crucial for the frame sides to match up.

2. Measuring the wood is equally as important. If one is off then they won't join properly.

3. Is there enough wood to make the frame? If not, go to the store. If there is, the wood can be cut.

4. After they are cut, match up the pieces and see if they fit together. If they do not, cut again. If they do match up, the frame can be joined.

5. Last step is gluing and joining the frame pieces to make a complete frame.
